IMAGE SOURCING — READ BEFORE USE

This document intentionally contains no photographs. Images found through a general web or Google Images search (including travel blogs, news sites and stock-site preview thumbnails) are copyrighted and are not cleared for commercial use on the website.

For each hub below, use the description and search terms to source a properly licensed image — for example from a licensed stock library (Unsplash and Pexels offer free commercial-use licences; Adobe Stock, Getty Images and Shutterstock offer paid licences), or commission original photography. Confirm the licence permits commercial/website use before publishing, and keep a record of the licence for each image used.

For visual consistency across all seven hubs, use the same framing style throughout (e.g. all aerial/dusk skyline shots, or all matching a single colour-graded treatment).
